Acharn forest Blue trail

This scenic route is perfect for walkers, mostly following well-maintained forest roads, though the section between waymarker 7 and 24 is on a narrow rougher tack which is susceptible to erosion and not suitable for cyclists. Let's embark on the adventure! ☐☐♀☐☐♂☐

Leaving from the War Memorial car park, head up the trail where way marker 1 is straight in front of you. The route starts with a steep climb up from the start passing the ruin of Eilean Corr, which was occupied within living memory, and then passing the village water supply. Head past the forest gate and up to way marker 4, 1.8km ahead. turn right here and the ground levels out and becomes undulating for 3.4km until you reach way marker 7. turn left heading down a narrow rougher trail for 1.25km where the trail splits at waymarker 22. Follow the right hand trail past waymarker 23 and through the small tunnel under the road and on until you emerge on the Auchmore forest road at waymarker 24. Here turn left and follow the road for about 1k, keeping left at the next junction and Keep an eye out on your right for the Kinnell standing stone ring until the track re-joins the South Loch Tay Road (waypoint 16). Go straight/right ahead onto the South Loch Tay Road which short after makes a sharp right bend, ending in a T-crossing with the Main Street (Gray Street) and views of the Falls of Dochart. To your right is the Falls of Dochart Inn, where you might wish to have a well-deserved refreshment before heading left along the pavement and back to the war memorial car park and the finish of the loop.

Enjoy the beauty, breathe in the fresh air, and soak up every moment. Happy trails!" "
